

2020 Tang Prize Laureates Unveiled to Universal Acclaim

Written by Administrator
Sunday, 05 July 2020 13:25 -

The recipients of the 2020 Tang Prize have been unveiled. They are: Jane Goodall in Sustainable Development; Charles Dinarello, Marc Feldmann, and Tadamitsu Kishimoto in Biopharmaceutical Science; Wang Gungwu in Sinology; and the Bangladesh Environmental Lawyers Association (BELA), Dejusticia: The Center for Law, Justice and Society, and The Legal Agenda in Rule of Law. Check out our “Laureates in a Nutshell” series to learn more about these five individuals and three NOGs and see how their great innovations and contributions have made the world a better place. You can also visit our official website and YouTube channel to relive some of the most glorious moments of the announcements. For the complete report of the 2020 winners, please see “

Amid Turmoil, 2020 Tang Prize Laureates Strive for an Orderly New World

”

